

Who will and how will we feed humanity?

Finding complementarity between contrasting approaches to achieving food security and nutrition

Opened by Mr. Manuel Flury, Co-Head
Global Programme Food Security, Swiss
Agency for Development and Cooperation

Moderated by Ms. Susan Bragdon,
Representative, Food & Sustainability,
Quaker United Nations Office

Panelists

Mr Juan Gonzalez Valero, Syngenta

Mr. Pat Mooney, ETC Group

Ms. Nichola Dyer, Global Agriculture and Food Security Program

TBD, La Via Campesina

8:30 am on Thursday, October 20, 2016
Red Room: Building A, Floor 1

Discussions around how to achieve food security and nutrition and the related targets of Agenda 2030 are often polarized — and charged. The Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation and the Quaker United Nations Organization will co-host a conversation to uncover where there is complementarity among seemingly contrasting approaches. Panelists will describe how their organizations contribute to the food security of hypothetical nations, how their interventions articulate with one another, and identify appropriate roles for governments.

Photo credit CIAT flickr